""Zerrikania, home of the venomous basilisk, has given birth to other equally hideous creatures. Among them are the powerful emetouka and spotted spiders so huge th they trap elephants in their webs and the no-less terrifying tse tse flies. The flies a especially repulsive, laying their eggs in the human body, the resulting larvae maturing within the host's head. The victim's brain serves as sustenance and when the larvae turn into adult flies, they leave the body through the eye sockets, now void of the previously devoured eyes.""

Description

The size of an elephant and pale green, its general description superficially resembles that of a rhinoceros, including a horn (ivory) about two meters long. Its enormous body is supported by four thick short legs and has a tail similar to that of crocodiles. Its jaws are armed with long, sharp triangular-shaped teeth.

Behaviour and Habitat

This animal habites in the vast swamps and jungles. It is, therefore, a creature of amphibious nature. It is rarely found in groups: it is considered a solitary hunter.

This creature has been seen facing herds of elephants and occasionally attacking humans. It is a very difficult opponent to kill, due to its thick and resistant skin and powerful horn. That is why it is very feared among the zerrikanians.

More info

According to several scholars, it is believed that this creature is another creature Post - Conjunction of the Spheres. And that, it could come, from a previous time or from a very primitive world.

Trivia

- Some scholars believe that this creature may be related in some way to dragons.
- Some minority religions in Zerrikania worship this creature, as if it were a god.
- This article is based / inspired in this mythological from the central african folklore Emela -ntouka (The article is in spanish)
